FEDERAL SUPPLEMENTAL SCHEDULES (also called non-population schedules)

Supplemental schedules were used to collect non-population data. These include: Agricultural in 1850–1880; Industry in 1850–1870 called Manufacturers in 1880; Social Statistics for 1850–1880; Mortality (cause of death) in 1850–1880. They are for the twelve months before the official date of that particular census. In 1880 a schedule for “defective, dependent and delinquent classes” (DDD) was also taken. The original schedules are now in various repositories and some have not yet been filmed. Certain Mortality schedules from 1850-1880 and the DDD schedules from 1880 are on Ancestry.com
